Objectives of B.A.(Hons) English Program

ANNEXURE-II-D

The B.A. (Hons) Program in English aims to initiate young students into the study of English literature and language. This course also acts as the preparatory course for our M.A. in English Literature. Young minds are taught to discover and appreciate the reservoir of knowledge that lies in the literary UNIVERSITY GRANTS COMMISSION of the past centuries and countries. They are taught to understand the finer aspects of life that are revealed through the poems, plays, essays and novels that they study. They are initiated into learning the process of literary creation. They are taught to understand the various literary theories given by critics. Thus by learning to value the ideals reflected in literature, they are encouraged to become better human beings.
